

FIGURE 184-2 Computed tomography (CT) scans of a 49-year-old woman with no underlying conditions who presented with community-acquired pneumonia. CT revealed multilobar infiltrates, some of which were not as prominent on chest x-ray. Cultures of both the patient's sputum and her home water supply yielded Legionella pneumophila serogroup 1. (Images courtesy of Dr. Wen-Chien Ko, National Cheng Kung University Hospital, Tainan, Taiwan.)