

FIGURE 76e-51 Skin lesions caused by Chironex fleckeri sting. (Courtesy of V. Pranava Murthy, MD; with permission.)

FIGURE 76e-53 Condylomata acuminata are lesions induced by human papillomavirus and in this patient are seen as multiple verrucous papules coalescing into plaques. (Courtesy of S. Wright Caughman, MD; with permission.)

FIGURE 76e-52 Chancroid, with characteristic penile ulcers and associated left inguinal adenitis (bubo).

FIGURE 76e-54 A patient with features of polar lepromatous leprosy: multiple nodular skin lesions, particularly of the forehead, and loss of eyebrows. (Courtesy of Robert Gelber, MD; with permission.)