

FIGURE 76e-71 Acanthosis nigricans, with typical hyperpigmented plaques on a velvet-like, verrucous surface on the neck.

FIGURE 76e-72 Pretibial myxedema manifesting as waxy, infiltrated plaques in a patient with Graves' disease.

FIGURE 76e-73 Erythematous, indurated plaque of Sweet syndrome, with a pseudovesicular border. (Courtesy of Robert Swerlick, MD, with permission.)

FIGURE 76e-74 Bilateral rheumatoid nodules of the upper extremities. (Courtesy of Robert Swerlick, MD; with permission.)

FIGURE 76e-75 Neurofibromatosis, with numerous flesh-colored cutaneous neurofibromas.

FIGURE 76e-76 Coumarin necrosis. Shown is cutaneous and subcutaneous necrosis of a breast. Other fatty areas, such as buttocks and thighs, are also common sites of involvement. (Courtesy of Kim Yancey, MD; with permission.)